POWERFUL SERMON DELIVERED AT HIGH SCHOOL LAST NIGHT

Darwin Theory of Evolution Dealt With by Dr. George W. Buntin in Annual Sermon to High School Graduates.

The Maysville High School auditorium was filled Sunday evening with folks to hear the annual sermon to the graduating class. The thirty-five graduates, clad in their caps and gowns, occupied a reserved space directly in front of the platform while the Girls' Glee Club occupied a reserved space on the platform.

Rev. Worth S. Peters, pastor of the Third Street M. E. Church, was chairman of the service and beside Superintendent W. J. Caplinger on the platform, Dr. J. H. Samuel, President of the City Board of Education, occupied an honored position.

The music led by the Glee Club was beautiful and the special selection rendered by the club brought many compliments from the audience. Dr. J. H. Dickey, of the Second M. E. Church, South, led the audience in the opening prayer.

After a few congratulatory remarks to the members of the Senior class, Dr. George W. Buntin, pastor of Grace M. E. Church, of Dayton, Ohio, delivered a very powerful sermon on the subject: "Born of a Monkey or Standing on Your Feet." The Darwin theory of Evolution was handled with un-gloved hands and the survival of the fittest was compared to the erst-while German theory of "Might Makes Right." After thoroughly establishing the fact that man descended from God and not from the Monkey, Dr. Buntin admonished his hearers to stand upon their feet with their heads erect. His conclusion was that if man is a descendant from God he should then act like God.

It was a wonderful sermon enjoyed by the graduates and the large audience immensely.

TITLE TO 2,000 ACRES OF LAND INVOLVED

Hearing on Injunction in Big Land Case Is Continued by Judge Cochran—Soldier Boy Interested.

A contention which involves the title of 2,000 acres of land in the mountains of Menifee county, Kentucky, was brought before Federal Judge A. M. J. Cochran in chambers here Saturday.

Robert Ballard, a young Kentucky mountaineer who had just returned from war was before the judge to show why he had disregarded an injunction issued by the court against him entering upon a tract of 2,000 acres of woodland in Menifee county. The complainants were the C. & O. railroad company who claim to own the land.

Ballard contends that the property belongs to him and the hearing of the case in chief will be quite interesting. Judge Cochran continued the hearing on the injunction when it was called before him Saturday until June 17th at Richmond, Ky., at the regular term of the Federal Court.

Attorney C. L. Dely, of this city, represents young Ballard while the railroad company is represented by a number of lawyers.

BODY OF CLAY LILLESTON HAS NOT BEEN RECOVERED

Mr. Lilleston was bathing with a party of five when he was caught in the breakers and attempts to save his life by the guards were futile.

MAYSVILLE MAKES GOOD SHOWING IN WELFARE SURVEY

Conditions in This City Found Good By Experts—Lexington and Paducah Lead the State.

Maysville ranks high in the Child Welfare Survey just made over the state of Kentucky according to the staff of investigation who have been making the survey.

Lexington and Paducah have more nearly perfect child labor condition and a better enforcement of the Child Labor law than any communities in the state, according to Mrs. L. R. Bush formerly state labor inspector of Alabama, who has been aiding in the child welfare survey of the state which has been in progress since March under the National Child Labor Commission.

Mrs. Bush completed her work this week, and has returned to her home in Alabama. The report of the staff of eight experts who conducted the survey in the state will not be published until September.

The survey included education, recreation, child labor, delinquency, dependency, the administration of institutions for children, juvenile courts and all important matters relating to children. The object of the study was to lay an informational basis for action toward a Kentucky Children's Code, a standardization of all state laws affecting children, the harmonization of the administrative machinery of the state, counties, cities and municipalities, and the co-ordination of all child welfare activities. The study was made at the request of the Kentucky Child Labor Association and several kindred organizations which will present the report to the 1920 legislature and use it to influence the platform of both political parties in favor of progressive legislation.

The work was done by Edward C. Clapper, assistant secretary of the National Child Labor Commission, and a staff of eight experts on different phases. The survey started in Lexington March 23, and was concluded in Louisville June 6. Sixteen representative counties in the mountain mining and agricultural sections, in the bluegrass region, the pennyrills and the purchase, with Jefferson county as an example of a county dominated by a city were studied. The records of schools, churches, charitable organizations, juvenile and all organizations, dealing directly or indirectly with children were used in the work.

The staff of experts included Mrs. Bush; Miss Elizabeth Bliss, who investigated educational conditions; Miss Mabel Brown Ellis, whose work was in juvenile delinquency; W. H. Swift, socialist in law and administration; Charles Gibbons, agricultural and industrial expert; Raymond G. Fuller, recreational worker; Dr. H. H. Mitchell, who had charge of health investigations; and Miss Theresa Wolfson, who will follow up the work done by the staff.

Miss Mabel Brown Ellis was in Maysville for several days a couple of weeks ago going over the records in the County and Circuit Clerk's offices. Before she left Maysville, she highly complimented Mason county upon her record as to infant delinquency.

Mr. Clapper said that no recommendation for the enactment of another Child Labor law would be made, as that introduced and passed by the Kentucky Legislature largely through the efforts of Senator Theodore Tunis, was an excellent one. It is not perfect, since it forbids the employment of children under legal age while many of them are idle and out of school because of inefficient truant officers, he said. The great obstacle to school attendance in Central Kentucky counties is the working of children in tobacco crops, as truant officers, when employed by counties, make little attempt to keep farmers from working their boys in the tobacco patch, stripping room, or in the barn to house or bulk down the crop.

BAND CONCERT IS GREAT HIT

The first Saturday evening band concert in the city band stand in Market street was held on last Saturday evening and there was a very large crowd of people on Market street to hear the music. The program was a very fine one and every one left boasting for the Boys' Band. At the conclusion of the program Manager Russell called the members of the band to the basement of the band stand where he served ice cream cones and cakes to them.

LEWIS CIRCUIT COURT OPENS

The June term of the Lewis Circuit Court opened Monday at Vanceburg and several Maysville lawyers are in attendance. This term promises to be quite a busy one at Vanceburg and local lawyers are interested in several important cases coming up during the term.

TEACHERS INVESTIGATING CITY'S TAX ASSESSMENT

Investigation of Figures by School Teachers on Saturday Disclosed Quite a Number of Errors.

That Maysville Public School Teachers, who have volunteered to assist in a careful investigation of the city's tax assessment, will find enough errors and enough property omitted from the assessment to bring the total tax figures up quite a sum, is believed by the city authorities.

A couple of the city teachers working all day Saturday at the County Clerk's office checking off the city's tax return against the county returns to see that no one had been omitted. In one ward in the city, it is understood, a shortage was discovered through error that will mean possibly $500 in taxes to the city.

Just as soon as Commencement is out of the way, the school authorities hope to be able to devote more time to the matter and expect to help out the deficit which the city is facing considerably.

City Council will meet on Tuesday evening but at that time matters will not be in shape for the making of the budget and the fixing of the tax levy for the year. Other matters of business will be attended to and council will be continued in session until such a time as the officers are ready with their budget.

SAW SIN FEINERS DRILL DURING NIGHT

Roy Cochran Held Very Important Posts in "Y" York in Ireland.

A telegram from New York to Kentucky newspapers, which telegram appeared in those papers Sunday, said: John M. Cochran, Maysville, Ky., son of United States Judge Cochran, returned here today with graphic descriptions of conditions as he saw them during eight months in Ireland. Cochran, a Y. M. C. A. worker, among other things, saw Sinn Feiners drilling at midnight upon a country road. His scope of service while in Ireland with the Red Triangle was to serve American sailors attached to the fleet of destroyers operating out of the port of Queenstown.

Cochran was divisional business secretary for the Y. M. C. A. in Ireland, and for about a month was assistant controller for the Red Triangle forces in London. But his stay in Ireland, he described, as most enlightening. He operated huts for the "Y" in Queenstown, Furlus Pier and Whiddy Island.

Cochran said the most inspiring sight he saw in Ireland was the department for the United States, December 26, of twelve American destroyers. He will return to Maysville.

MANCHESTER BOY DROWNS WHEN PLAY-MATES ROCK HIM

Coroner of Adams County Investigates Charge That Pals Are Responsible For Grant Edgington's Death.

Grant Edgington, aged 14 years, son of one of the most prominent families at Manchester, Ohio, was drowned in the Ohio river at the neighboring town Sunday afternoon about 3:30 o'clock while playing with several other boys.

Reports reaching Maysville today are to the effect that Edgington and the other boys were in swimming together when several of the boys went to shore and began to throw rocks at Edgington and force him out into the river not permitting him to come to shore. He is said to have become exhausted or to have suffered cramps and went down drowning.

The Coroner of Adams county is making an investigation at Manchester this afternoon and reports reaching Maysville were that one boy whose name could not be learned, had been charged with manslaughter in connection with the case while there was a possibility of the other boys being charged with contributing to the crime.

OUR POLICY

To support such measures as are unquestionably for the good of Mason County as an entire community, rather than such propositions as are in favor of the individual interest, or of one section as against another. And likewise to earnestly and consistently oppose all things that are not for the good of the County as a whole.

IMMIGRATION AND "AMERICA FIRST"

Representatives in progress are announcing their determined opposition to restrictive immigration. We propound this question: For whom do congressmen legislate, Americans or foreigners?

If they are Americans elected by Americans and sworn to uphold Americanism they should think of America. If they are going to represent foreigners as against the best interests of this country they should not be in congress.

The debate on immigration in the house has brought forth some acrid comments. It is the fairest assumption that the antagonists of the bill are pleading the cause of the prospective desirable newcomer; in which position, if only desirability could be assured, they are well grounded and we have no dispute with them; but their zeal for the desirables—a theory only, because they cannot vouch for them—is very likely to prove the haven of the unconsiderables and for this reason we urge them to consider the welfare of the nation and not the inclinations of an untried polyglot.

The United States is eager to welcome the desirable newcomer; but equally anxious, nay, more, to turn away the violent trouble maker. We are threatened with a great influx of immigrants from central Europe. What shall we assume to be the reason for this movement; that they are eager for the freedom of America; or anxious to escape the obligations they have collectively incurred?

If freedom, we may suggest that they are getting more of it in central Europe than they bargained for. But in Germany and Hungary we see a great war debt settling; they have just been assured they are not the supermen they claim to be. Yet if they are supermen let them prove it by overcoming adversity. That is where a superman makes good.

But suppose our bars are let down and they flock to our shores; and that in another generation we are vanquished (which God forbid) in a disastrous war; who, think you, would first with all celerity get out of America and disavow the obligation? Have you the remotest doubt that it would be the whole souled American with the traditions of the nation at heart who would stay, shoulder the load, fight back and stand by when the going is bad?

We do not say that all immigrants are fleeing their obligations. Many of them are inspired by noble ambitions. But this particular time, while it may be bad for the immigrants, is an exceedingly propitious time for us to look to the state of the nation. And we may broadly assume that if foreigners scurry away from European obligations they will not be less nimble to quit America under similar circumstances. Good citizens are best in adversity.

America certainly enjoys the right to select the members of the national household. Furthermore, bloodthirsty radicals are not seeking improvement under our standard of morals, but rather to destroy. Nor is this a speculation, but a fact of which we have had ample proof throughout the war, proof which still is existent.

Restrictive immigration should be adopted and without delay. Radicals may not be fire, but they are fuel. If we extend hospitality to bolsheviks we may not burn, but we'll surely have fire.

ASIATICS IN MEXICO

The landing in Mexico of 5,000 Asiatics during the month of March is a fact of interest to Americans as well as to the Mexicans. This immigration may be the beginning of a great movement or simply the return of Asiatic aliens driven out during the revolution. We know there were thousands of Japanese and Chinese in Mexico before the fall of Porfirio Diaz.

But it is inevitable that unless artificially checked there will be an inflow from Asia. The Mexicans cannot expect to hold a rich country undeveloped in this age. Nature adorns a vacuum and while the press of population is so great in China and Japan their good people will pour into lands where life is easier and opportunities greater. The Japanese and Chinese are more industrious than the peon of Mexico and better equipped for survival. Both would do very well, especially in agriculture.

Our own interest in the growth of a large Asiatic population south of the border is obvious. They would create a more serious race cleavage than now exists on this continent, and both economic and social friction might become dangerous in time.

Mexico in her condition of economic collapse and political confusion is a constant menace to the United States. She must be helped to enter upon the path of peaceful development, and there is no other nation we can afford to have give aid help than ourselves. The quicker we address ourselves to this duty the better.

EDUCATION INCREASES PAY

Boys and girls who go to work at the end of grammar school rarely get good jobs. The work they find to do is usually unskilled; it offers little training or chance for advancement. When they are older they find that they are still untrained for the skilled work which offers a future.

Many boys and girls when they leave school find work that offers a high wage for a beginner. But these wages seldom grow because the work requires no training. A position with a future and steadily increasing wages requires school training.

A table prepared by the United States Bureau of Education, compares the wages of a group of children who left school at fourteen years of age with another group who left at eighteen years of age.

At twenty-five years of age the average boy who had remained in school until eighteen had received over $2,000 more salary than the average boy who left at fourteen and was then receiving over $900 a year more. This is equivalent to an investment of $18,000 at five per cent.

Can a boy increase his capital as fast any other way?

Von Brockdorff-Buntzau's efforts to gain audience with the President shows that German effrontery and impudence has not changed much.—Omaha Bee.

Kentucky Politics As It Looks Today

Governor James B. Black has called upon Judge John D. Carroll, of New Castle, another candidate for the Democratic nomination for Governor, to say whether or not he had anything to do with the printing and distribution of a circular attacking Governor Black for his "L. & N. letter." The editorials are from the Glasgow Times and the Meigs County Messenger, and elite, with caustic comment, a letter from the Governor to L. & N. Railroad officials, asking renewal of a complimentary pass for a man on the plea that he was of a prominent family, members of which frequently served on juries. The Times condemns the Governor for attempts at "jury-packing" and for serving as an employee of the railroad while he was assistant attorney general of the state. The Messenger declared that the Governor promised to explain the letter at the proper time after it was unearthed in Washington, and tells him that the proper time has come.

In his address at Central City Friday, Governor Black denounced the widespread circulation of the circular. He said that Colonel Henry H. Denhardt, his other opponent in the race for Governor, had disclaimed knowledge of it, and that he was calling upon Judge Carroll to say whether he had it printed or consented to have some one else to do so. He did not, however, make any explanation of the letter or deny that he wrote it. Friends of his are circulating a story to the effect that another member of the law firm in which the Governor was a partner seven years ago wrote the letter, but they do not explain why the writer has kept silent instead of acknowledging the authorship and saving Governor Black's chance for the nomination. Pitzer Black, son of the Governor, says that enemies of his father are making a mountain out of a mole hill, and that the reference to certain persons serving on juries was intended merely to show that the applicant for a pass was a member of a prominent and well-connected family.

In answering the demands of Democratic newspapers that he remove certain officers appointed by Stanley, Governor Black mentioned only one officer, Thomas Pannel, state fire marshal, saying that he was under the state auditor and not the executive department. He gave no encouragement to the insistent demands from all sections of the state that he cancel the contracts made by Stanley employing three special attorneys for the Bingham tax case, saying that he did not believe the contract a mere scrap of paper. He declared that if he found it could be cancelled without injustice to the state under the dictates of conscience and fairness he would cancel it.

The Louisville Herald credits Democrats identified with the organization of Governor Black with the statement that William O. Head, former mayor of Louisville, will enter the race for the Democratic nomination for lieutenant Governor. Mr. Head has denied the rumor, and the supporters of Judge Carroll for Governor expressed surprise, as Mr. Head is a leader in Louisville and the Fifth District, which is strongly pro-Carroll. There is still talk of a "dark horse" in the lieutenant Governor's race, and the opinion of the state press seems to be that Governor Black is preparing a slate and that neither Ronald C. Oldham, of Winchester, nor W. H. Shanks, of Lincoln county, are acceptable to him for running mates. The several Democrats mentioned as possible entrants in the race have not shown any eagerness to oppose Colonel Oldham, whose friends claim that he has strong organizations in every county of the state. Robert R. Friend of Estill county; Henry Lawrence, of Cadiz, and Dr. A. J. A. Alexander, of Woodford county, have all refused to make the race.

Collector Josh T. Griffith, of the Second Internal Revenue District with headquarters at Owensboro, is being urged to make the race for the Democratic nomination for State Auditor, according to an Owensboro dispatch, which sees in the request a move to strengthen the candidacy of Judge J. D. Carroll for Governor in Western Kentucky.

Henry M. Bosworth, of Lexington, and A. Clark Vance, of Henderson, both Democrats, have announced for the nomination, and John J. Craig, of Covington, was endorsed for the position at the Republican state convention.

The certification of Judge Charles A. Hardin, of Harrodsburg, as Democratic nominee for Congress from the Eighth District, made by the district committee last week, turns the interest in that district to his successor as judge in the Thirteenth Judicial District, comprising the circuits of Mercer, Garrard, Boyle and Lincoln counties. Judge Hardin has not yet announced the date of his resignation, but there is much speculation in the papers of the district as to whom Governor Black will appoint to fill the vacancy. The Richmond Daily Register believes that Attorney Henry Jackson, of Boyle county, is likely to receive the appointment, and declares that he is being groomed by his friends to make the race for a permanent place on the bench at the election. The same paper repeats a rumor that Kendrick S. Alcorn, young Lincoln county lawyer, will be a candidate for the judgeship and will have the support of Joseph E. Robinson, of Garrard county, who was slated for the appointment of Governor Stanley if Judge Hardin had resigned before former executive resigned his seat.

The Louisville Evening Post the past week continued its advocacy of a Democratic convention before the primary to propose a ticket. An editorial paragraph from the paper says: "Why not repeat the direct primary law in Kentucky? Hardly any one now believes that to make all nominations by primary is a good thing. The Republicans have held a convention and proposed a ticket. The Democratic party should do the same thing. And both parties should unite to get rid of the law at the next session of the Legislature."

The Mt. Sterling Advocate is in favor of a platform convention before the primary which will not endorse candidates. Such a course would tend to eliminate matters of difference between the various candidates and insure success in November. In the opinion of the editor, G. B. Senft.

PLEA FOR TWO DISTRICTS

Washington, June 6.—Senators J. C. W. Beckham and A. O. Stanley, of Kentucky, called yesterday on Commissioner of Internal Revenue Roper and entered protest to consolidation of the Internal Revenue Districts in Kentucky that would not leave at least two districts in existence.

They declared that the state of Kentucky is so situated geographically that there should be at least one district for the western half of the state and one for the eastern half.

They found Commissioner Roper set in his decision that all five of the existing districts in Kentucky should be combined into one district, with headquarters in Louisville.

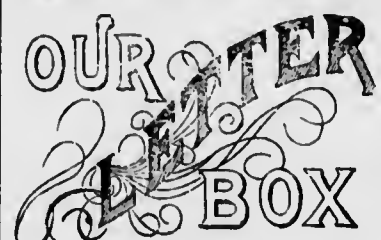

Contractors report that more extensive improvements are being contemplated in the business section of the city for this summer and it is more than likely that contracts will be let within the next few days for some of this contemplated work.

SOME EXPERIENCES OF KENTUCKIANS WHILE PRISONERS

Something About the Men of Kentucky Who Were Taken Prisoner by the Germans During the Great World War.

The following are accounts of some of the experiences of Kentucky boys who were captured by the Germans. The reports are issued on the authority of the Kentucky Council of National Defense:

Ray Boyd, of Hopkinsville, Ky., was taken prisoner a few days before the armistice was signed. Before he was captured he brought down two German soldiers, in which fight he was wounded. He and the two Germans were taken to the hospital at the same time. Boyd, who has recently returned to his home, says that he was treated well while in the German hospital, and even invited to remain in Germany. He said he declined this invitation with thanks, as the dear old U. S. A. was good enough for him.

Lieut. Hugh Dugan, of Lexington, Ky., was captured and held as a prisoner for nine months before being released. He was forced to eat the German rations for four or five months, after which time Red Cross parcels began to arrive for the prisoners. He said the Germans took one-third of each man's Red Cross portion.

It was reported by the Associated Press on April 21, 1919, that eleven American prisoners who had been held by the Bolsheviks had been sent out of Russia by way of Stockholm. In this number was John Triplett, of Lackey, in Floyd County, Ky.

Clarence Kimes, of Hickman, Fulton County, Ky., after months of wonderful experiences and fighting in France, is home again, bearing the scars of German bullets on his arm, breast and leg. He had fully recovered from his wounds. He was one of fifteen prisoners captured by the Germans in a big drive. He reports that the Germans treated him well in prison, but that the food and medical attention were nothing to brag about.

Leslie Pedigo, of Louisville, Ky., spent two horror-filled years in a German prison. While on board a British merchant ship he was captured by the German raider Moewe early in 1917. Pedigo relates that during the time he was in prison he was beaten, starved and worked to a point almost beyond endurance. Part of this work was unloading pig iron. The diet consisted of small soup and turnips. Part of Pedigo's story is as follows:

"At Lubek we were housed in warehouses and slept in ship bunks. We worked, loading and unloading pig iron from the ships, from 6 o'clock in the morning until 8 o'clock at night. This work was like torture to all of us, although there were many big, husky seamen among us. The menu of the German army and navy for prisoners must have been the same, for even at Lubek we were given only the same old small soup, and boiled, and sometimes raw, turnips. When we were unruly and oftentimes when we were not, we were given pulp bread and water and kept on this diet for days. I tried four times to escape and all I got was a hole in my head, and the vacancy which these false teeth fill. The treatment which we got when we were recaptured, after trying to escape, I can't describe. It was too horrible."

Charles Porter, of Louisville, enlisted with the Canadians in 1914. On November 23, 1914, he was on the firing line, with the 3rd Battalion. He was in the first battle at Ypres. He was wounded in January at St. Julien, spent two months in hospital and returned to Ypres. He was wounded a second time, and spent a year in a French hospital. Returning to the front in 1916 he was again severely wounded and left on the field. This time his name appeared in the list of dead. But Porter was this time rescued from a shell hole by the Germans and made prisoner. After being in a German hospital for four months he was sent to a farm in Westphalia to work. He refused to work and was beaten with iron rods and starved. At this time the British were sending rations for the prisoners, but when the prisoners refused to work the Germans moved them quickly from one place to another and used other underhand methods to prevent them getting food sent to them. More than a year elapsed before Porter received his first rations from British Government. Until that time he subsisted entirely on two slices of Holtz bread (this bread is made of potato peelings, ground wheat straw and wood pulp), carrots for dinner and a quart of turnips for supper. When he worked in the coal mines and later in the steel mills he received a mark a day from the German Government.

Dawson Wigginton, of Louisville, was a prisoner of the Germans for three hours. American soldiers then captured the position at which he had been taken prisoner, and he and his rescuers captured the five Germans who had made him a prisoner.

Lieut. Lee H. Whitehead, of Jeffrey, Monroe County, Ky., was for several months in a German prison camp. He reported that on a certain march he met 250 English prisoners who were all that were left of 1,500 originally captured, the others having died of starvation. Whitehead declared that if it had not been for the Red Cross he, together with many others, would have died.

Historical Drive
June is Historical Month in Kentucky. Every county in the State is now engaged in making a permanent record of the part it played in the World War.

The records of the soldiers are being made on War Record Sheets. The records of the civilians are being made in the form of reports of the work done by the County Council of Defense, Red Cross Chapters, Liberty Loan Campaign Committees, Women's Clubs and other organizations which took a part in winning the war.

When these records are completed they will be bound in permanent form and placed in the archives of the county.

The Kentucky Council of Defense inaugurated this work in September, 1918, by appointing State and County Historians. These historians are engaged in the laborious task of compiling complete lists of the men who have lost their lives, those who have been wounded and those who have won special honors. They are also making a complete roster of all men in the service. A special effort is being made to get a complete list of the volunteers, and those who have been for a long time in the regular army. Every person who has a relative in the service should make it a personal duty to see that a War Record blank is filled for such person and handed to the County Historian.

ON THE FARM IN KENTUCKY

College Was Host

The College of Agriculture at Lexington was host last Friday to a large delegation of Arkansas farmers and business men that had made the trip to visit the College of Agriculture, the Experiment Station and some typical Kentucky farms. Friday was spent at the Station, the Experiment farm and the College of Agriculture. After a noon luncheon at the Experiment Station Cafeteria, the party visited stock farms near Versailles and had supper at Hereford Farms.

Saturday was spent among the stock farms about Lexington and luncheon was eaten at the Mayfield Farm. Later in the afternoon the party was interested in seeing bluegrass stripped on some of the big pastures.

Meetings Are Popular
Farmer's Community Meetings are evidently quite popular this summer. Reports reaching the State Department Committee at the Board of Trade Building, Louisville, Ky., show that about 20 counties have organized and are ready to have the dates set for their meetings.

The plans of this committee call for meetings in the southern part of the State on the main branch of the L. & N. early in July. The meetings which follow will be scattered along the L. & N. northward and will later in the season swing into the eastern end of the State. The Purchase and Pennerie will be taken care of sometime after the first, or August, as these meetings will be continued into September.

Eggs Have Out
The farmers' wives in Oldham county are unable to fill outside orders for purebred eggs this spring. Three orders for 1,000 eggs each which came from other counties in the State could not be filled because of the active local demand. Three years ago Oldham County decided to standardize its poultry and selected White Plymouth Rocks as the breed. These fine birds have spread over the county until 17,000 purebred eggs were set this spring.

The Sunday School of the Third Street M. E. Church gave their former pastor, Rev. George W. Bunton, a royal welcome yesterday. As will be seen there was a fine attendance, and the former pastor was shown throughout the school. He complimented very highly the splendid work being done.

A church full of people heard Dr. Bunton preach. He gave one of the finest sermons heard in years in this church. Sunday morning's services both in Sunday School and church will be long remembered for the inspiration received from Dr. Bunton's visit and preaching.

Superintendents throughout the county are urgently requested to send in their Sunday school reports to the proper authorities this week, especially those for the county secretary and the attendance secretary and adult class superintendent. Do not put off longer this important matter.

June is History month in the State of Kentucky and the State Council of National Defense is endeavoring to gather all the information—possible about Mason county men who were in the service.

SCHOOL LEGISLATION TO BE DISCUSSED BY TEACHERS

Kentucky Teachers' Institutes Will Discuss Proposed School Legislation.

Frankfort, Ky., June 9.—Teachers' Institutes this summer will discuss school legislation embracing among the subjects:

"Should the constitution be so amended as to provide such distribution of school funds as would stimulate local taxation, increased attendance, lengthening of the school term and consolidation?"

"Should a date be fixed after which no sacrifice of any kind should be issued to any one who does not have at least two years' standard high school training?"

"Should there be a non-partisan State Board of Education with power to appoint a State superintendent, and should the election of all state and county school officials be non-partisan, and should the county board be vested with power to appoint the county superintendent and teachers on his recommendation, the superintendent to be appointed regardless of residence?"

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and for years it was supposed to be incurable. Doctors prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Catarrh is a local disease, greatly influenced by constitutional conditions and therefore requires constitutional treatment. It is taken internally and acts through the blood on the mucous surfaces of the system. One hundred dollars reward is offered for any case that Hall's Catarrh Medicine fails to cure. Georgetown, Ky., June 9.—Jesse Graves, a negro, was killed, and James Mason, a bystander, was seriously, possibly fatally wounded by Patrolman W. O. Barkley, about midnight Saturday.

The policeman was trying to arrest Graves on a charge of disorderly conduct, when the negro's wife jumped upon him, and at the same moment the negro struck barkley on the head with a half-filled quart bottle of whiskey, falling him.

While prone upon his back, the policeman drew his revolver and fired at Graves several times.

One of the bullets struck Mason, who was watching the difficulty.
